Held Party For Sixth Graders

The sixth grade graduates of the Central Elementary School, numbering 91, were the guest of their parents on the evening of June 13 at a delicious chicken pie dinner served in the school cafeteria, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Edward Romeo, past president of the Central Elementary P.T.A., served as toastmaster. After some preliminary remarks, Mr. Romeo introduced the invited guests at the head table. They were Supt. and Mrs. Edward I. Erickson, Miss Catherine M. Barrett, Miss Helen Thompson, Mrs. Mary Boyle, Miss Eunice G. Stack, Mrs. Frank McArdee, Miss Mary Silk, Miss June Anderson, Mrs. Tyler Carlton, Mrs. Gertrude Stewart and Mrs. Hazel Wilson. Ellerton Whitney was unable to be present.

Prayer was offered by Miss Barrett, principal. Before leaving the cafeteria, the students gave a rousing cheer of thanks to the committee of parents for making the dinner possible. The co-chairmen were Mrs. Walter Morrissey and Mrs. Robert Hamilton, assisted by Mrs. Franklin Scott.

After dinner, the graduates adjourned to the auditorium where impressive exercises were conducted, with Frank Roediger serving as announcer.

Selectmen Going Slow To Market On New Bus Routes

Sanborn School Closed Tuesday

The Henry C. Sanborn School was shut down Tuesday and opened for only a half-hour Wednesday morning, due to a blocked sewer. School was hurriedly called off Tuesday, after Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson and the School Committee heard a 10:30 report Monday evening from Architect Frank Crimp on the sewage disposal system. He recommended the no-school policy, but at the time workmen hoped to find the

"HAL" RUTTER, Prop.
211 No. Main St. 475-5121
Reg. No. 6510

The Selectmen have taken "under advisement" a request from the Eastern Mass. Street Railway Co. to travel over additional streets in town.

The company is attempting to set up service to Park Square, Boston, via Rt. 125 and Rt. 93. But it also has requested use of the interchange of Rt. 133 and 93 as an alternate.

The Selectmen were disturbed over the possibility that buses might leave Shawsheen via Lowell st., to reach Rt. 93, thus eliminating more service through the town.

John Mulhern, manager of the Lawrence Division, told the Board his firm plans to use Rt. 125 at Howard Johnson's to reach Rt. 93, but did not deny the possibility that Lowell st. could be used, if permission is obtained. He explained that about 10 trips a day are planned, Monday through Friday. And he pointed out that, in his opinion, the buses would have to run through Andover Square for pick-ups, to make the trip worthwhile. He also promised no reduction in other trips, because the buses have to run through the town to get to Wakefield and Reading.

The Selectmen were considerably upset by the chance that service in the town will be reduced.

And Paul W. Cronin told Mr. Mulhern bluntly that the firm "asks for an awful lot". He referred to a petition submitted some time ago by the Trombly bus lines, which Eastern Mass. fought. His

Authorize New School

Schematic drawings for a new, 1,500-pupil high school will be prepared by Architect Frank Crimp, following a 3-2 vote of the School Committee Monday night.

The Committee vote for the new school was Dr. Milton J. Meyers, William A. Doherty and John S. Sullivan, for the school and Mrs. Barbara Moody and Vincent P. Davey, opposed.

The structure is estimated at approximately $3,000,000.

The 6-3-3 educational system will be retained, under the plan discussed by the Committee.

The action came after many meetings with Mr. Crimp, and analyzing various sets of plans to meet secondary and elementary school needs from now until 1972.

Although there was no vote on the matter, the Committee appeared to be making a commit-

CAPITALISM and the Andover Consumers CO-OP

Capitalism means that operating funds in business are supplied by voluntary private sources. (Socialism means that the public furnishes working funds through compulsory taxation.)

Capitalism can take many forms: from individual ownership, as in a small retail business, to ownership by millions in a giant corporation; from non-competitive businesses like the utilities to highly competitive businesses like food retailing.

Where does the Andover CO-OP fit into this pattern? The CO-OP is a local retail business of moderate size, not owned by a few individuals or a giant chain but owned by 2800 local residents who are its primary customers. In a cooperative, the consumers direct the store to buy for their use. That's why we call it do-it-yourself capitalism, or wide-spread capitalism at the grass roots.

Although we have numerous owners, the extent of ownership by any individual is limited. Control of the CO-OP is as democratic as town meeting because each owner has a single vote regardless how many shares he may own.

Owners get a 5% dividend on their shares. Much more important, as consumers they get a refund in CASH, in proportion to their patronage, from any annual operating surplus.

That, in brief, is how cooperative capitalism works.

Court St. Monica Installed Its Officers

Court St. Monica, 783, Catholic Daughters of America of Andover, recently held its installation of officers at the Merrimack Valley Motor Inn.

Guest speakers were Very Rev. Henry B. Smith, O. S. A., chaplain of the court, and Miss Margaret Rooney, state secretary, who stressed the motto of the Daughters "Unity and Charity". The Catholic Daughters of America is the largest National Catholic Women's Organization, numbering some 215,000 and located in the United States, Puerto Rico and Cuba. At its national convention last July, members voted $50,000 for the Pious Society of St. James in South America, founded by Richard Cardinal Cushing; $10,000 each to the Holy Father, CRS and NCWC, the Catholic Press Association and the Catholic Church Extension Society, which has received $100,000 from the C. D. A.

Several vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. John T. Grosley, accompanied on the piano by Miss Mary Margaret Thomas. Guests present were Miss Helen Conaty, past state ritual chairman; Joyce Sullivan, G. R., and Patricia Gallagher V. G. R., of Court Cardinal O'Connell, Lowell; Eleanor Welch G. R., of Court St. James, Haverhill; Carol Caron G. R., and Mary Caron V. G. R., of Court St. Therese, Methuen; Bessie Mullen G. R., and Lena Casey, historian, of Court Joan of Arc, Lawrence; Mrs. Lucy Lavioie G. R., of Court Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal, Ayer.

The outgoing officers, Mrs. Katherine Tremblay, Mrs. Virginia Heislein, Mrs. Joyce Perry, Mrs. Marge Bolia and Mrs. Nellie Locke, were presented with G. D. A. pins and charm bracelets. Mrs. Rose Proulx, a charter member, was presented with a Past Grand Regent's pin and crystal necklace and earrings, in appreciation of her untiring devotion to Court St. Monica for the past 40 years. She is moving to Florida. Miss Marie King, District deputy, from Ayer, installed the following officers, assisted by Miss Virginia Devaney, monitor, also from Ayer.

Grand regent, Miss Estelle Dumont; V. G. Regent, Mrs. Dorothy Apitz; prophetess, Mrs. Mavis Cox; lecturer, Mrs. Barbara Bourgeois; monitor, Mrs. Jean Beaulier; financial secretary, Mrs. Claire Dalton; treasurer, Mrs. Barbara Flynn; historian, Miss Janet Sawyer; sentinel, Mrs. Patricia McCarthy; organist, Miss Frances McAvoy; trustees, three years, Mrs. Regina Scannell and Mrs. Anna Walsh; for two years, Miss Anna Greeley and Mrs. Margaret Johnson; and for one year, Mrs. Anna Morrissey and Mrs. Margaret West.

GO SLOW ON BUS PETITION

suggestion was that arguments used against the previous petition might now be used against Eastern Mass.

Mr. Cronin also noted that past and present performance of the firm should be taken into account, in judging the merits of the request.

It was suggested that many persons in Andover depend on bus service to Lawrence, and that curtailment of service will seriously impair the residents' ability to reach that city. Some mention was made of problems the company is having in Lawrence, in providing Tuesday and Friday night service for shoppers.

Mr. Cronin also made note of the subsidy being provided the Railroad for passenger service, which enables a passenger to ride into Boston for about 50 cents. Even this, he stated, may not be successful, and some thought should be given to the effect of additional bus service on the railroad's position.

The captain received his B. A. degree in 1955 from Virginia Military Institute in Lexington and is a M. D. degree in 1959 from Tufts University. He is a member of Psi Omega fraternity.

Leave Turtles, Fawns, Alone

The Mass. S.P.C.A.'s Chief Agent Robert Murray has issued a warning about handling turtles, whose bite can be dangerous, and fawns, which seem to be abandoned. Turtles are now leaving the water to deposit their eggs on dry land. Even small snapping turtles are capable of biting off an unwary finger. Children, particularly, should be made aware of the danger since turtles sometimes travel great distances, through the woods and crossing highways, looking for a place to leave their eggs before returning to water.

Since turtles are one of nature's controls for mosquito larvae and other insects, the Mass. S.P.C.A. asks that these reptiles be left alone and not harmed.

Agent Murray also urged that any young fawns found in the woods should not be touched or disturbed. Contrary to appearances, the fawn is not abandoned by its mother. The fawn's protective coloring and lack of scent enables the doe to leave her young alone for long periods during the day while she forages for food. The doe will return to the fawn but will resent any human scent if the animal has been touched.

block and fix it. However, efforts to find the trouble during Tuesday proved negative, and the decision was made to have school for a half-hour Wednesday - only long enough to give out report cards for the end of the year.

The blockage of the system seemed a bit of a mystery Tuesday, with a report that it must have persisted for a long time. A pump pushed the waste material out of the school into the municipal system on Lovejoy rd. But a manhole several hundred feet down the street was empty and dry, indicating to town officials that the sewage had not been reaching that section for some time. They couldn't fathom a guess as to where the wastes have been disappearing, pending further clean-out attempts.

Will Discuss Regional School

The Selectmen will meet with Fred Tarbox, the town's representative on the Regional Vocational High School Committee, next Monday night.

Of particular interest to the Board is the site currently recommended by the Committee, on River rd., adjacent to the Lawrence industrial park. The site has been tested by Andover personnel to see how it meets drainage and sewage requirements, according to Town Manager Thomas E. Duff. The Selectmen discussed the use of the land, described as industrial, for school purposes, and the possible affect on the town by removing land from tax rolls.

Town Employees Association President Raymond LaRosa was present, and asserted his opinion that there should be a limit on the amount of tax-free land the town may have. He commented that many local institutions have land that is not taxed, and that this is growing each year.

The Selectmen, while talking about the regional committee's choice of sites, wondered whether some other location - one alternate has been chosen nearer to Route 93 - might not be better for the town.

ment to a plan that will possibly cost close to six million dollars, over the next decade. Involved, besides the new high school, are elementary schools and renovations. However, the exact details of this plan, in any final form, have not been spelled out.

Prior to the action Monday night, the administrators of the schools—Supt. Edward I. Erickson, Lauristan Ward, curriculum coordinator; and Principals Philip Wormwood and William Hart had recommended a new high school and retention of the 6-3-3 system. They also recommended that, if any two levels of education must be housed in the same building, it would be best to have the upper elementary grades in the Junior High structure.

The general plan which seems to be in the process of adoption calls for a new high school of up to 1,500 eventual capacity; two junior highs—using the existing one and making use of the present high school; and elementary schools as needed to meet needs. Although the action was on a building to house 1,500, it was plain that the Committee may eventually call for a 1,200-capacity structure, with facilities designed to allow additions up to the larger size. Mr. Crimp said it would be common practice to first draw plans for the larger structure, so that core facilities would be adequate for expansion as required.

An effort to "sell" the program of construction to the voters, and in general improve communications between the Committee and townspeople, was suggested by Mrs. Moody.

She would like to see a group of laymen formed, to become well-acquainted with the problems and reasons for solving them by the selected construction method. Then the individuals could carry this message throughout the town. Dr. Meyers agreed that it is the School Committee's job to "sell the plan" once it has been decided on a course of action.

The next step is to have Mr. Crimp and the educators work on educational specifications for the structure, and submit them to the School Building Assistance Commission.

Mr. Crimp told the Committee it may be possible to get 40 percent assistance from the state on this school, or even possibly slightly in excess of this percentage.

Study Underway On Outfall Sewer

The town's outfall sewer in Lawrence is being studied, to find out whether it has capacity to carry industrial sewage from the Winthrop ave. area.

Camp, Dresser and McKee, the consulting engineers, are conducting the study, at the request of the town. Lawrence has asked to have several prospective commercial establishments empty their wastes into the outfall sewer.

According to the town, the carrying capacity of the sewer is at maximum, 10.3 million gallons a day. The present usage is 9.5 million gallons daily, and there has been some question as to the feasibility of allowing additional entrance.

The town's agreement with Lawrence governing use of the sewer dates back to 1923.

identified. The invention is electrical in nature, and can easily be attached to all makes of cars. It makes it impossible for the car to be stolen by the familiar crossed-wire technique. And the wheels automatically are locked, making it virtually impossible to move the car away, anyway. Howarth points out that many accidents occur when children move gear shift levers or release emergency brakes, but that this can not happen when his invention is installed, due to the locked wheels.

The firm's product, the first of several being developed, will originally be marketed in Greater Boston. But plans for its distribution are nation-wide in scope.

Troopers To Wear
New Name Tags

Every Massachusetts state trooper will begin wearing a metal name plate on his uniform in the very near future. The new program, designed to facilitate an accurate identification of each officer, will go into effect Friday, June 21.

State police officials are enthusiastic about the advantages the new identification system will provide. In commenting on the positive aspects of the name plates, Commissioner of Public Safety Frank S. Giles discussed the unique deployment of state police personnel: "The state police organization has grown from the original complement of 50 men in 1921 to our present strength of just under 600," said Giles. "It is only natural that troopers stationed in the Berkshires for an extended period of time, would not know their counterparts patrolling Cape Cod. This is also true as we find new officers leaving our training academy and beginning their initial barracks duty. The name plate will afford ready identification and make easier the beginning of new working relationships."

While pinpointing the advantages that will accrue in the internal affairs of his department, Commissioner Giles emphasized that the new system was created with the motoring public in mind. "Troopers are providing a great deal of service on the new system of high speed highways," said Giles. "Oftentimes a motorist is reluctant to ask the name of an officer who has helped him. The new name badge will offer the person who has been assisted the opportunity to commend the Trooper to his superiors in the event he is so motivated."

Suit Over Wildwood Rd.

The town probably is faced with a law suit to determine ownership of Wildwood rd.

Thomas Churchill of Salem st. commented "We'll see you in court" when informed that the Selectmen endorse Town Manager Thomas E. Duff's position that the road is a public way.

Churchill contends that the dirt street, which passes on one side of his house, is private, and has been shut off year after year to maintain that standard.

Mr. Duff says the street has been maintained over the years, that a water main lies beneath its surface and that a map of 1830 indicates that the street was there then.

GETTING READY for a big night June 27 are these graduate members of the Rocketeers. They will sponsor "The Silver Spurs" here June 27 at the Junior High School. After a two-hour performance, the audience will have a chance to dance with members of the visiting group. The couples are Dorothy and Willard Patterson, Judy and Calvin Hatch, Isabelle and Frank Shepherd, Sandra Stewart and Robert Baillie.

Silver Spurs Show June 27

The "Silver Spurs" are a group of 20 teenagers from the city of Spokane in the western state of Washington, whose expert dancing is a real form of art.

Thursday evening, June 27, they will appear at Andover Junior High School. The REAA Rocketeers square dancing "graduates" are sponsoring the event. Net proceeds will be contributed to a scholarship fund at Andover High School.

The active young Silver Spurs would rather dance than do some other social things that appeal to their classmates because their leader and instructor, Edwin S. "Red" Handerson, makes study of the dance fascinating to them. He is a consultant on physical education to the Spokane school system and a recognized dance authority. Invariably he is referred to by the press and his friends as "Red" because of his red hair. The young dancers are called "his kids".

So high is the morale of the Silver Spurs that there is always a long line of students eager to be elected to fill the few vacancies left open by graduation of "veteran" members. Those accepted for training must have talent and must maintain high grades in their studies. Most of the boys are among the best Spokane school athletes and the girls are usually recognized leaders in school activities.

Each spring the Silver Spurs board a rented bus to start a trip that will take them into dozens of large and small cities. With them they take 10 complete sets of costumes, special lighting equipment and other properties used in their dance acts.

The dancers carry with them costumes valued at $30,000. Most of the girls' costumes are turned out by their mothers. Each girl and boy wears approximately a dozen outfits on tour. Some of the dresses contain 40 yards of material, plus 20 yards in the underskirts. All of the boys' costumes, except the Mexican and Spanish, have been purchased.

The annual tours are conducted primarily for the broader education and wholesome pleasure of the youngsters; and secondarily, to spread knowledge of and interest in this healthful and enjoyable form of recreation. All traveling is done by bus with adult chaperones and supervisors in charge. The tour follows a pre-arranged schedule of sponsored engagements.

The Silver Spurs know approximately 250 dances and the two-hour show is a delight of graceful and well executed dancing. Their show opens with exhibitions of Western style square dancing.

Next they dance some of a dozen Mexican dances which include Las Altinitas, Chiapanecas and La Joaquina. They follow this with perfectly executed examples of the Tango, Rhumba, Samba, Intricate Filipino Bamboo Dance, Fandango Espana, Spanish Jota and then comes the colorful and difficult American Indian Hop Dance.

Following changes of costumes, the Silver Spurs then dance some 30 Continental and English Dances and early and modern waltzes and two steps. Some of these dances include the Norwegian Waltz, Pride of Erin, Skater's Waltz, Chrysanthemum and many other international favorites.

The finale is a beautiful "black light" dance in which the darkened hall is a background for the iridescent purple, green, orchid and pink colors created by the "black light" apparatus.

Following their performance, a square dance party for the audience will be held with Paul Pratt of Chelmsford calling. The audience will then have an opportunity to dance with the performers.

Serving as coordinator for this event is Don Scott of Chestnut st. Mrs. Frank Shepherd of Chandler rd. is treasurer. On the Scholarship Committee are Archibald L. Davidson Jr. of Central st., Hazen Curtis III of Mary Lou ln. and Aubrey Stewart of Shepley st.

For tickets, any Rocketeer may be contacted or Mr. and Mrs. David MacDonald Jr. of Chestnut st., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chadwick of Lowell st., Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Freije of Amhurst st., Mr. and Mrs. George F. Snyder of Maple ave. or Mr. and Mrs. L. Newill of Lockway rd.

Pellegrino Will Receive Award

Joseph Pellegrino of Andover, president of the Prince Macaroni Mfg. Co. in Lowell, will be honored June 22 with the Distinguished Communal Service Award of Kiddie Kamp, a non-profit organization which this year celebrates 25 years of sending over 20,000 underprivileged boys of every race, creed and color to its summer camp on Lake Massapoag, Sharon.

Pellegrino is being cited as the Man of the Year for "his devotion to the cause of Kiddie Kamp and for his leadership in the business and professional world." His activities include the Jimmy Fund, the United Fund, Little League baseball and sponsorship of refugees. He has also personally directed welfare efforts in behalf of a child victim of polio in cooperation with the National Foundation.

The award will be presented to Pellegrino at the Kiddie Kamp Silver Jubilee Dinner in the Hotel Somerset, Boston. Two other civic and business leaders will also be honored: Lloyd B. Waring, of Rockport, partner of Kidder, Peabody & Co. and former Republican State Chairman, and Julius Stone of Boston, philanthropist and founder of Kiddie Kamp. Honorary directors of Kiddie Kamp include President Kennedy and Endicott Peabody, Massachusetts governor.

Very Rev. Henry B. Smith, C. S. A., Pastor of St. Augustine's church, will give the invocation at the banquet.

Miss Donna Mellett, a student at the University of New Hampshire in Durham, N. H., is spending the summer at her parents' home on Lowell st.

It may be somewhat surprising to the layman that perhaps more than 90 per cent of the prescriptions filled today could not have been filled a quarter of a century ago for the simple reason that one or more of the prescribed drugs was then unknown.

The wonder-drug era beginning in 1935 ushered in a startling and welcome increase in mankind's rather tenuous hold on life. Although the term "wonder drugs" is sometimes considered an extravagant copy writer's creation, there is no discounting the fact that life expectancy today is a full decade greater than in 1935. Much of this astounding increase is directly attributable to the so-called wonder drugs and to the improved surgical techniques which they helped to bring into practice.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Take Nothing For Granted

Some comments made by Jim Roberts, Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce executive, at the Board of Trade dinner, hit close to home.

He stressed the importance of selling a community's assets, not sitting back with smug assurance that certain things are bound to happen. He told the story of one western community that has dwindled in population and wealth, because it had so many assets that its merchants and businessmen simply waited for the assured growth.

Andover could be in this position as far as its industrial land is concerned. We have heard over the past few years about the terrific value of the sites within the town; how the developers and the businessmen will surely covet this area — just wait a while.

There seems to be an idea that our industrial sites are so good that indifferent attitudes on the part of officials and townspeople make no difference at all.

This is not true. Other communities have sites that equal ours, or are almost as good. But they sell their assets — and they are more likely to get the rewards than are we.

We must not take the town's assets for granted. We have to sell them to prospective developers and builders, particularly in the industrial field.

Make It Right

Looks like there'll be a lot of school construction during the next few years — both on the secondary and elementary levels.

And there's one thing to keep in mind, when considering the latter. It is our understanding that the plans for the Henry C. Sanborn School are the property of the town. They should be utilized wherever and whenever possible.

On many occasions, a newly-appointed school building committee has gone through the process of hiring new architects, obtaining new plans and carrying out the full construction project.

Now we have the opportunity to do just what many residents have often suggested — use the plans of one building over again, with possible adaptation to a new site.

Future building committees should be so instructed, without leaving any doubt in anyone's mind. This is one way to keep costs down, without sacrificing quality of construction.

We might also suggest that a design for a new secondary school shall include expansion possibilities. On some occasions, we have heard architects state that a building, designed for expansion, can not actually be increased in size without creating problems within the plant.

Thus it would be desirable to have a full design for the expanded school, making certain by doing so that the building can be increased some time in the future. Then, when the smaller structure is authorized, the town will have some guarantee that an architect will not have the same comments to make, 15 or 20 years from now.

Mixed Opinion

There seem to be mixed feelings within the town's official family, about the merits of having the Vocational Regional School in the community.

Most of the questions concern using prime industrial land for the school — land that will automatically disappear from the tax lists, once it becomes the property of the Regional School Committee.

The site in question is in Andover, on the river side of River rd., near the Lawrence line. In general, it abuts the Industrial Park on Andover st., Lawrence. There's little question that it is a good site for the school in terms of site preparation and room for adequate development of the area. But as a site near other industrial land, which is being developed at present, it is also one of the choicest locations in Andover — more likely to be acquired for industrial use than some others, which are more difficult to develop.

The Children's room will open on those same days from 10 a.m. to noon, and from 2 to 5 p.m. The room will be closed Saturdays.

Summer Loans

Adults have been enjoying the summer loan privilege for some time, and taking an unlimited number of books to be returned Sept. 16. Now boys and girls have the privilege of taking six books at a time, and more, if accompanied by a parent. In all departments books in special demand, reference books and books on reading lists are excluded.

All borrowers are reminded that this extended loan period is not automatic, and must be asked for each time.

Story Hour in Summer

There will be a story hour Wednesday afternoons during the summer, from 2:30 to 3:15 at the library. The coming week, June 26, the subject is "Fairy Tale Princesses." All boys and girls are cordially invited to these programs.

Bookplates On Display

Miss Margaret Cronin has arranged a most interesting display of a portion of her collection of bookplates in the vestibule case at the library. She has chosen what she considers the most attractive examples of different categories and has put explanatory labels on them.

In her exhibit she shows some of the Sidney Lawton Smith plates, very famous portrait examples, and a fine Chippendale plate, which has the interesting quality of never having the two sides exactly the same.

The work of Edwin Davis French and Nathaniel Hurd, engraver of two Harvard plates about the year 1750, is included, also one by Howard Pyle, who designed only seven. His own included, engraved by Edwin Davis French.

In early times, a person had his coat of arms on all his books to identify ownership. Then came the bookplates with heraldic emblems. As time went on there were ornate additions of flying ribbons, scrolls, angels and later landscapes, with here and there a highly individual design.

Miss Cronin's interest in the subject was greatly increased when she inherited a collection two years ago, and she has continued adding new finds until her collection now numbers about 2000.

The exhibit will remain on view for a week or two.

Recordings Supplement

Anyone who has not picked up the 1963 supplement to the list of recordings which are available at the library may do so at any time. In addition to the classical selections, there are the following folk songs: "American Ballads" sung by Joan Baez, Newport Folk Festival, featuring music by Oscar Brand, Will Holt, Geula Gill and Theodore Bikel; "Pete Seeger Sings American Ballads", a recording of familiar favorites and "She's Like A Swallow" and other folk songs sung by Bonnie Dobson. There are at least half a dozen jazz recordings in this year's list, also.

There is a very practical long-playing recording "Shorthand Dictation For Speed Building". Here are 45 minutes of dictation for gaining speed from 90 to 120 words a minute, designed to develop shorthand speed for student and secretary.

And in keeping with the accelerated pace of today, there is a language album, "Instant French", narrated by Raymond Guisard, containing two manuals and a dictionary.

CAPITOL COMMENT

By YOUR CONGRESSMAN
BRAD MORSE

Probably the most serious economic problem plaguing the cotton textile industry here in Massachusetts and in other parts of New England is the disastrous effect of the two-price system on the purchase of raw cotton. Due to an export subsidy program, American industrial consumers of cotton have been forced to pay eight and one-half cents per pound more than foreign consumers. The result has been disastrous for cotton textile manufacturers.

When lower cotton prices are coupled with lower labor costs abroad, foreign-made cotton goods can be sold on the American market at prices considerably lower than those American-made goods can command. Meanwhile, the American consumer must pay a higher price for clothing, linens and other domestic products and manufacturers have watched their markets dwindle.

To alleviate this situation, a bill to enable American purchasers of cotton to obtain it at the price prevailing on the world market has been reported favorably by the House Agriculture Committee and is expected to reach the Floor of the House within a few days.

The new program would provide certificates for cotton payments from Commodity Credit Corporation stocks to industrial consumers at world market prices. It will also provide a higher price support for small cotton growers and institute a research program aimed at reducing the costs of producing cotton.

While enactment of this legislation will help solve the immediate problem of rising prices and falling markets for American cotton and cotton products, it will probably further complicate our already confused and overextended farm program.

The program will bring us closer to a free market for raw cotton, but it does so by counteracting one artificial measure with yet another.

It is important that the two-price system be eliminated.

The noblest gift in the history of Phillips Academy would have to be a pretty noble gift, but headmaster Dr. Claude M. Fuess was able to give that description at the annual alumni meeting last Friday to the gift of a 17-acre estate in Washington, D. C. It is the gift of Henry L. Stimson, president of the Board of Trustees and secretary of war under President Herbert Hoover. The value of the estate is listed at one million dollars.

The tax rate this year is $23 - an increase of $2.20 over a year ago but at least $1.50 under the estimate of the assessors at town meeting.

The Finance Committee has transferred $5,000 to the Board of Public Works for W.P.A. labor, thus averting a threatened special town meeting, at least until fall.

Hawaiian Luau Lots Of Fun But Roast Piglet Is A Job

By Vivian Newill

For those who like the idea of a Block Party but are interested in something a little more adroit, how about a "Hawaiian Luau"? The hardest part in planning this type of affair is pronouncing some of the words (and trying to spell them!).

Mrs. Richard Nealey of Carmel rd., has suggested that roast baby pig be served. A clever man can improvise a spit on which to cook the meat or else a fancy, electric rotisserie would be ideal. The only problem is knowing where to buy a piglet! Mrs. Louis Bravacos of Lowell st., tells of roasting a loin of pork for several hours in a slow oven. The meat should be basted once every half hour or so with a sauce made from fresh chopped ginger mixed with soy sauce. This is a traditional Hawaiian dish. Very delicious, too.

Other customary foods to serve include whole peeled bananas that are first baked, then rolled in fine coconut. Rice dishes are very appropriate, as are pineapples and other fresh fruits. A large watermelon can be scooped out and filled with bite size pieces of assorted fruits. Mrs. Nealey states that "Macadamia" nuts are delicious and taste almost like cashews but look like rocks. This Hawaiian delicacy may be hard to find but is a real conversation piece and worth the effort of finding a food specialty shop that carries them. "Mai-tai" is the traditional drink served at a Hawaiian holiday and Mrs. Nealey is fortunate enough to have the recipe. Beverages may be served in hollow coconuts.

In talking to Mrs. George Ainscow of Lovejoy rd., she suggested using long planks set on cinder blocks and pillows as tables and

Pomp's Pond Bus Schedule

The bus schedule for Pomp's Pond for the summer has been announced by Recreation Director Leslie Bartow.

Buses will leave the West School at 9:25, and are scheduled to stop, at five minute intervals, at Shawseen Square, Andover Square, Salem st. and Highland rd., South Main st. and Ballardvale rd., South School, and Pomp's Pond — arriving there mornings at 9:55.

The schedule for the afternoon trip to the pond starts at 1:20 p.m., with the same stops, and arriving at the pond at 1:50.

Going home, the bus leaves at 12:30 p.m. from the pond, and again at 4:30.

Bartow cautioned parents with pre-school children that these youngsters should be transported in private cars, and supervised by their parents. School-age children who can't swim should attend morning sessions at the pond, when lessons are given. Only in the afternoon is general swimming allowed.

He also has pointed out that the buses to and from the pond are busy, and that a strict schedule can not be maintained, particularly on the homeward-bound trips in the late afternoon.

Pomp's Pond Bus Schedule

The bus schedule for Pomp's Pond for the summer has been announced by Recreation Director Leslie Bartow.

Buses will leave the West School at 9:25, and are scheduled to stop at five minute intervals, at Shaw-sheen Square, Andover Square, Salem st., and Highland rd., South Main st., and Ballardvale rd., South School, and Pomp's Pond - arriving there mornings at 9:55.

The schedule for the afternoon trip to the pond starts at 1:20 p.m., with the same stops, and arriving at the pond at 1:50.

Going home, the bus leaves at 12:30 p.m. from the pond, and again at 4:30.

Bartow cautioned parents with pre-school children that these youngsters should be transported in private cars, and supervised by their parents. School-age children who can't swim should attend morning sessions at the pond, when lessons are given. Only in the afternoon is general swimming allowed.

He also has pointed out that the buses to and from the pond are busy, and that a strict schedule can not be maintained, particularly on the homeward-bound trips in the late afternoon.

The services, led by Exalted Ruler Raymond J. Lavin, 9 Robandy rd., were held before a large gathering of Andover Elks and their guests.

The traditional ritual commemorating the birth of the American flag provided a history of the American banner beginning with the Pine Tree Flag, adopted for use on all colonial vessels in 1775, on through to our present 50 stars and 13 stripes. The program included the singing and playing of traditional patriotic songs, interwoven with the historical portions recited by the participating officers and members of the Lodge.

Benjamin Dimlich, chaplain of the Lodge, delivered an address outlining the history of the flag as it has been determined by contemporary historians, pointing out its significance during the various periods of the growth of the nation.

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks holds the unique distinction as the originator of Flag Day, and is the first and only fraternal order to require formal observance of it. It was made mandatory upon each subordinate lodge of the Order in July, 1908, when the Grand Lodge, then holding its annual meeting at Dallas, Texas, provided for the annual nationwide observance of Flag Day on the 14th of June in each year.

Displays At Addison Gallery

The new Center for Arts and Communications was one of the featured points of interest as Phillips Academy graduated its 185th class June 6 and 7.

Designed by the Architects Collaborative of Cambridge, Benjamin Thompson partner in charge, the new facility includes studios for architecture, painting, sculpture, ceramics and photography - a space for building stage scenery, a drama workshop, audio-visual laboratories and projection rooms including a 300 seat room for audio-visual instruction, lectures and musical performances, as well as technical equipment for recording them. This particular unit of the Center was dedicated in memory of William Thornton Kemper May 25 and 26. Also dedicated on the same occasion was the David Milten Underwood Room for social interchange between faculty, students and guests - an integral part of the new Center contributing toward the involvement of the entire campus community in the area of the Creative Arts.

Not least among the attractions is the annual Student Exhibit, displayed both in the Arts Center and in the Addison Gallery of American Art adjoining it. For the first time, there is an exhibition of the work of the Art Department faculty. Heretofore, although Art has been a diploma requirement for over a quarter of a century, there has been but one, at the most two, instructors in the practice of Art. With the opening of the Art Center facilities, however, a larger staff has become essential; consequently, this is the first opportunity to arrange a faculty exhibit of consequence.

Installed in the top floor galleries of the museum are paintings and photographs by Gordon Bensley, drawings and sculpture by Gerald Shertzer, paintings by Robert Eshoo, cabinet work and architectural plans by Robert Lloyd and stoneware pottery and enamels by Roger Roberge.

The quality of the Bensley photographs accounts for the competence of student work exhibited currently in the new Center, just as the drawings and sculpture of Shertzer account for the high standard of student performance in these areas. Eshoo, whose work has been invited to exhibitions of national prominence, such as the Richmond quadrennial and the Corcoran Biennial in the Nation's Capital, is represented by a survey of his development over nearly a decade. Lloyd exhibits a standard of craftsmanship and taste that is not only revealed in the accomplishments of those students who come under his guidance, but also is seen in the recognition he has been given by the school administration in terms of commissions for the Underwood Room already mentioned. One of the most original student achievements is a sculpture in cement and glazed terracotta which could hardly have been produced without the technical advice of Roberge who, though still a fifth-year student at the School of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, gives promise of a rewarding career.

In short, the arts of Andover have gained fresh impetus with the opening of the Arts Center and the Student and Faculty exhibits are demonstrable evidence of the creative energy and quality of education which now pervades this academic community.

The Faculty exhibition will remain on display until July 7th; the Student exhibit will continue throughout the summer. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. weekdays; 2:30-5 p.m. Sundays. The public is welcome without charge.

Mrs. George Addison has returned to her home on Chandler cir., after spending several months with her son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. William Addison of Orlando, Fla.

Selectmen Say No Renewal

Shades of Urban Renewal. The Selectmen were asked to re-certify the town's "Workable Program" Monday night - the same type of certification required for the Urban Renewal proposal.

But Town Manager Thomas E. Duif assured the Board that nothing in the new suggestion conflicts with the voters' decision against renewal. Rather, he said, the town must be certified in order to take part in various federal programs that are either in existence or which may be adopted. The Selectmen wanted more data before signing any resolutions and suggested that, in particular, the manager be certain that there is nothing to do with Urban Renewal in the current program.

SPACE CAPSULES WERE FASCINATING

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Garvey and their children, Erin, Danny, Tom and John, of Carmel rd., visited the Washington, D. C. area recently.

Highlight of their trip was their visit to the Smithsonian Institute. Of special interest to the children was viewing the space capsules in the newest section of the museum.

PREPARING FACTS - Mrs. Charles Liponis, using copies of the Andover Townsman dating back to 1887, has been preparing sets of annual "facts", to be fed through a computer during the Sidewalk Bazaar Friday and Saturday. (Staff Photo)

Gets Facts For Bazaar

A unique demonstration of a computer's ability will be offered during the Sidewalk Bazaar tomorrow and Saturday, via the Andover Institute of Business.

Anyone may give the operator of the computer the year of their birth, and receive a printed card from the machine, stating various facts that took place in that year.

Mrs. Charles Liponis has been researching the material for the statements of fact, using the files of the Andover Townsman and earlier Advertiser, retained in bound files at the Library.

Robert Dennison of the Institute has been working with her on coding the data and preparing it for the computer.

It has taken about an hour to cover a seven-year period, Mrs. Liponis said, while dictating into a recorder. Additional work has resulted from the need to transcribe the recorded data before coding the computer cards.

"Durham Dilly" Well Received

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Durham of Cincinnati, Ohio, formerly of Kenilworth st., recently published an amusing newspaper called the "Durham Dilly", to bring their many friends in Andover up to date on their progress since moving away early this year.

The Durhams reported that the mayor was not on hand to welcome them to Cincinnati although the children were given an honorary key to the zoo.

Ray Durham misses his choristers and hopes to organize another group in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Durham has been busy house-hunting and the Durhams are now in the process of buying an Old English colonial home in Mariemont.

David and Debbie are adjusting to school life and little Cathy says she still likes her school in Andover better than the one in Cincinnati, a perplexing statement since she does not go to school.

Mrs. Durham added a postscript saying she has clipped out the Andover Townsman articles on having a block party, and hopes to put the ideas to use in her new surroundings.

"Durham Dilly" Well Received

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Durham of Cincinnati, Ohio, formerly of Kenilworth st., recently published an amusing newspaper called the "Durham Dilly", to bring their many friends in Andover up to date on their progress since moving away early this year.

The Durhams reported that the mayor was not on hand to welcome them to Cincinnati although the children were given an honorary key to the zoo.

Ray Durham misses his choristers and hopes to organize another group in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Durham has been busy house-hunting and the Durhams are now in the process of buying an Old English colonial home in Mariemont.

David and Debbie are adjusting to school life and little Cathy says she still likes her school in Andover better than the one in Cincinnati, a perplexing statement since she does not go to school.

Mrs. Durham added a postscript saying she has clipped out the Andover Townsman articles on having a block party, and hopes to put the ideas to use in her new surroundings.

Weddings...

KNEATH - BOOTH

For her bridal veil, the former Janet Jean Booth wore the chapel veil which her mother had worn at her wedding. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Booth, 100 Salem st., she became the bride of William Alfred Kneath of Lowell st., in a ceremony at the North Reading Congregational Church June 8, performed by the Rev. Kenneth Boyle.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a floor length gown of white peau de sole and French lace. Her flowers were a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Barbara Stingle, the bride's mother, was the matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Ann Magnusson of Arlington, Va., Miss Arlene Fleming of Carlisle, Miss Barbara Segal of North Reading and Miss Ann Hamblet of Andover. They wore afternoon dresses of blue peau de sole with matching veil hats, matching accessories and carried bouquets of yellow flowers. The matron of honor had accessories of a deeper shade.

Robert Grudzynski of Andover acted as best man. Serving as ushers were Frank Wright, Thomas Andrews, Paul Ostrowski, James A. Booth Jr., all of Andover and Kirk Single of Seekonk.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Rose Lodge Hall, North Reading. Afterward the bride and bridegroom left for a trip to Lake Umbagog, N. H. They will make their home at Laconia, N. H. The bride was a 1960 graduate of the Andover High School and attended Windham College, Putney, Vt.

The bridegroom was a 1955 graduate of Andover High School.

TINGLE - BRADY

St. Mary's Shrine was the setting last Sunday of the candlelight wedding of Miss Frances Brady, 47 Hidden rd., and Thomas H. Tingle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Tingle, 40 Cantillon st., Lawrence.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Brady of Glasgow, Scotland, was escorted to the altar by Thomas Tingle.

Miss Margaret O'Gorman of Andover and London, England, was her only attendant and the bridegroom was attended by Thomas F. Morton of Boston, his brother-in-law.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John V. Casey, O.S.A.

The bride wore a princess style gown of ivory silk taffeta. The Alencon lace bodice had a sabrina neckline and short sleeves and appliques of Alencon lace enhanced the hem of the bouffant skirt. Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion was held with a crown of pearls and crystals and she carried a cascade bouquet of white rose buds and miniature carnations.

The honor attendant wore a street length gown of aqua silk organza with matching accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink miniature carnations and daisies.

A reception was held at the Capri with guests present from New York and Greater Lawrence. After a wedding trip to New York City and Canada, the couple will reside at 111 Perry ave., Lawrence.

The bride is a graduate of St. Bridgett's, Lanarkshire, Scotland. Mr. Tingle, a graduate of Central Catholic High School, served four years with the U. S. Air Force and is employed by H. P. Hood and Son.

Recreation Council Adopts By-Laws

At a recent meeting, the Community Council for Recreation adopted the first sections of its by-laws.

Included in these are the aims of this group, which are to serve as an advisory body, providing cooperative assistance and support to the Andover Recreation Committee, the School Committee, and any other organizations conducting recreation programs for town residents.

President Robert McIntyre read a letter from the Recreation Committee recognizing the formation of the Council to serve as a liaison between the recreation director and Committee and the citizens of the town. Other officers are Mrs. Thomas Dye, vice president; Dr. Douglas Dunbar, secretary, and Richard Neal, treasurer. The membership includes organizations interested in furthering town recreational facilities and programs.

Preliminary plans were made to publish an activities directory for all Andover organizations, including a calendar of events for a six-month period. It is hoped that such a directory, edited with the help of Leslie Bartow, recreation director, will aid all groups in scheduling activities and provide information for town residents covering all areas of recreation. All town organizations will be contacted during the summer for inclusion in the directory and the dates for a town-wide calendar.

The Community Council discussed ways of serving the town in planning new facilities and hoped to aid in discovering the needs of the town in view of a growing population with more leisure time plus a demand for increased recreation programs. All residents or organizations interested in working with the Council in any of these areas are asked to contact the officers or Mr. Bartow.

Summary Of Views On Job

Considerable interest has been generated in the creation of a new position in the school department — supervisor of general services.

The job was approved by a 3-2 vote of the School Committee June 3.

Voting for the post were Chairman Dr. Milton J. Meyers, Mrs. Barbara Moody and John S. Sullivan.

Against the proposal were members Vincent P. Davey and William A. Doherty, School Supt. Edward L. Erickson recommended against the new position.

Proponents of the action generally cited these reasons for their decision:

The superintendent will be freed from administrative details, to devote his time to education.

Theories of good management dictate that the chief administrative officer should not have all administrators — principals, department heads, head custodian, and others — report directly to him, but should have a second-in-command to whom some of the administrators report. Other school systems, it was noted, have such an arrangement and find that it is effective and, in some cases, saves dollars.

Opponents of the job listed these reasons:

There is no demonstrable need for the position now.

Principals have gone on an 11-month work year, thus aiding in educational matters; appointment of head custodian and bus supervisor will result in less administrative details for the superintendent.

Creation of the job will, they claim, result in greater expense — both for the new appointee, and also for his future assistants.

Furthermore, they claim that the negative recommendation of the superintendent should be followed, just as are other recommendations, in order to be consistent.

Mr. Erickson's position, in summary, was that the position is not needed, and could be too costly to the town; he had previously recommended the job title and another job description that did not call for an appointee with as extensive a background in business, education and management.

Proponents, in citing the need for more time on education, listed these items: intensive teacher recruitment program, visits and study of new building programs elsewhere, sufficient time for studying changes in educational programs, developing short and long-term objectives, completing substitute teacher orientation programs, initiating salary incentive programs, evaluating educational programs and greater emphasis on communicating the educational program of the public schools to the townspeople.

Regional Committee Set On West Andover

New Code For Mail

The Post Office's answer to speedy and correct mail delivery all over the country goes into effect July 1 — but you've got to memorize a few numerals to use it.

Postmaster Francis J. Mooney announces that Andover's ZIP code is 018 — plus the digits 10 for every patron who has mail delivered from the office, and 11 for those getting mail via the Shawheen branch. Ballardvale's code — that's a separate Postoffice — is 01820.

The theory behind the new code is that nation-wide usage will allow speedier delivery, and cut mistakes to a minimum.

Mr. Mooney insisted, while outlining the new procedures, that the effectiveness depends on everyone remembering to use the code.

A correct address will have, following the normal sequence of words, the full numerical code, (Continued on Page Three)

Charter Study Group Seeks More Latitude

The town manager study committee met for the first time Tuesday night — and promptly decided to ask the Selectmen's permission to broaden the scope of the study.

Harris N. Sanfilippo, newly-designated chairman, will discuss the subject with the Selectmen, who have set the ground rules for the study.

Nearly all of Tuesday's meeting was concerned with members' feelings that the study could not accomplish much unless departmental functions, and inevitably personalities, are discussed. The original charge from the Selectmen asked that these subjects be avoided.

There was general understanding at the session that the purpose of the group is to see whether the town manager charter is functioning as intended, and if not, to determine whether the charter can be strengthened or whether the fault lies in the implementation of the document.

Members of the Committee promptly decided that this can not be done unless there is some investigation of departmental functions, to see whether these conform to the original intent of the charter.

Mr. Sanfilippo emphasized on numerous occasions that the Committee must maintain objectivity in its study.

He agreed with one member that it is possible for the Committee to recommend changes, even to a different form of charter, if this is believed necessary. But he also pointed out that there should be no prior judgment that problems exist.

As far as personalities were concerned, members emphasized that a study of departments will necessarily include observations on individuals.

But Mr. Sanfilippo stressed that the competency of any individual is not to be determined — this, he said, should be determined by the individual's superiors, and handled through normal department routine.
